Gender and Human Security

Shuichi Ikeda (Director, Gender Equality Team, Environment and Social Considerations Review Planning and Coordination Department, JICA)

Naoko Ishii (Associate Expert, Gender Equality Team, Environment and Social Considerations Review Planning and Coordination Department, JICA)

In the morning session, the participants were given a lecture, which showed JICA projects for gender mainstreaming and its relation with human security. The participants learned how Japan s Official Development Assistance policies have been concerned with gender so far and how issues of human security and gender are connected with the development assistance.

In the afternoon session, the participants held a workshop on how to make plans for development of a farming village with gender sensitivity. Through the workshop, followed by group presentations, the participants acquired strategies of gender analysis.
